EuroCrim 2017 conference venues

Tiny Rebel 18

We are pleased to offer you a voucher for a free drink at a Welsh bar called Tiny Rebel which is located at 25 Westgate Street opposite the Principality Stadium (a 10 minute walk from St David's Hall). As well as soft drinks, this micro-brewery offers a wide selection of alcoholic drinks including a range of cask and keg beers which have been brewed in-house. The food served here includes burgers, pizza, vegan dishes and pub snacks. You can find your voucher in your conference bag.

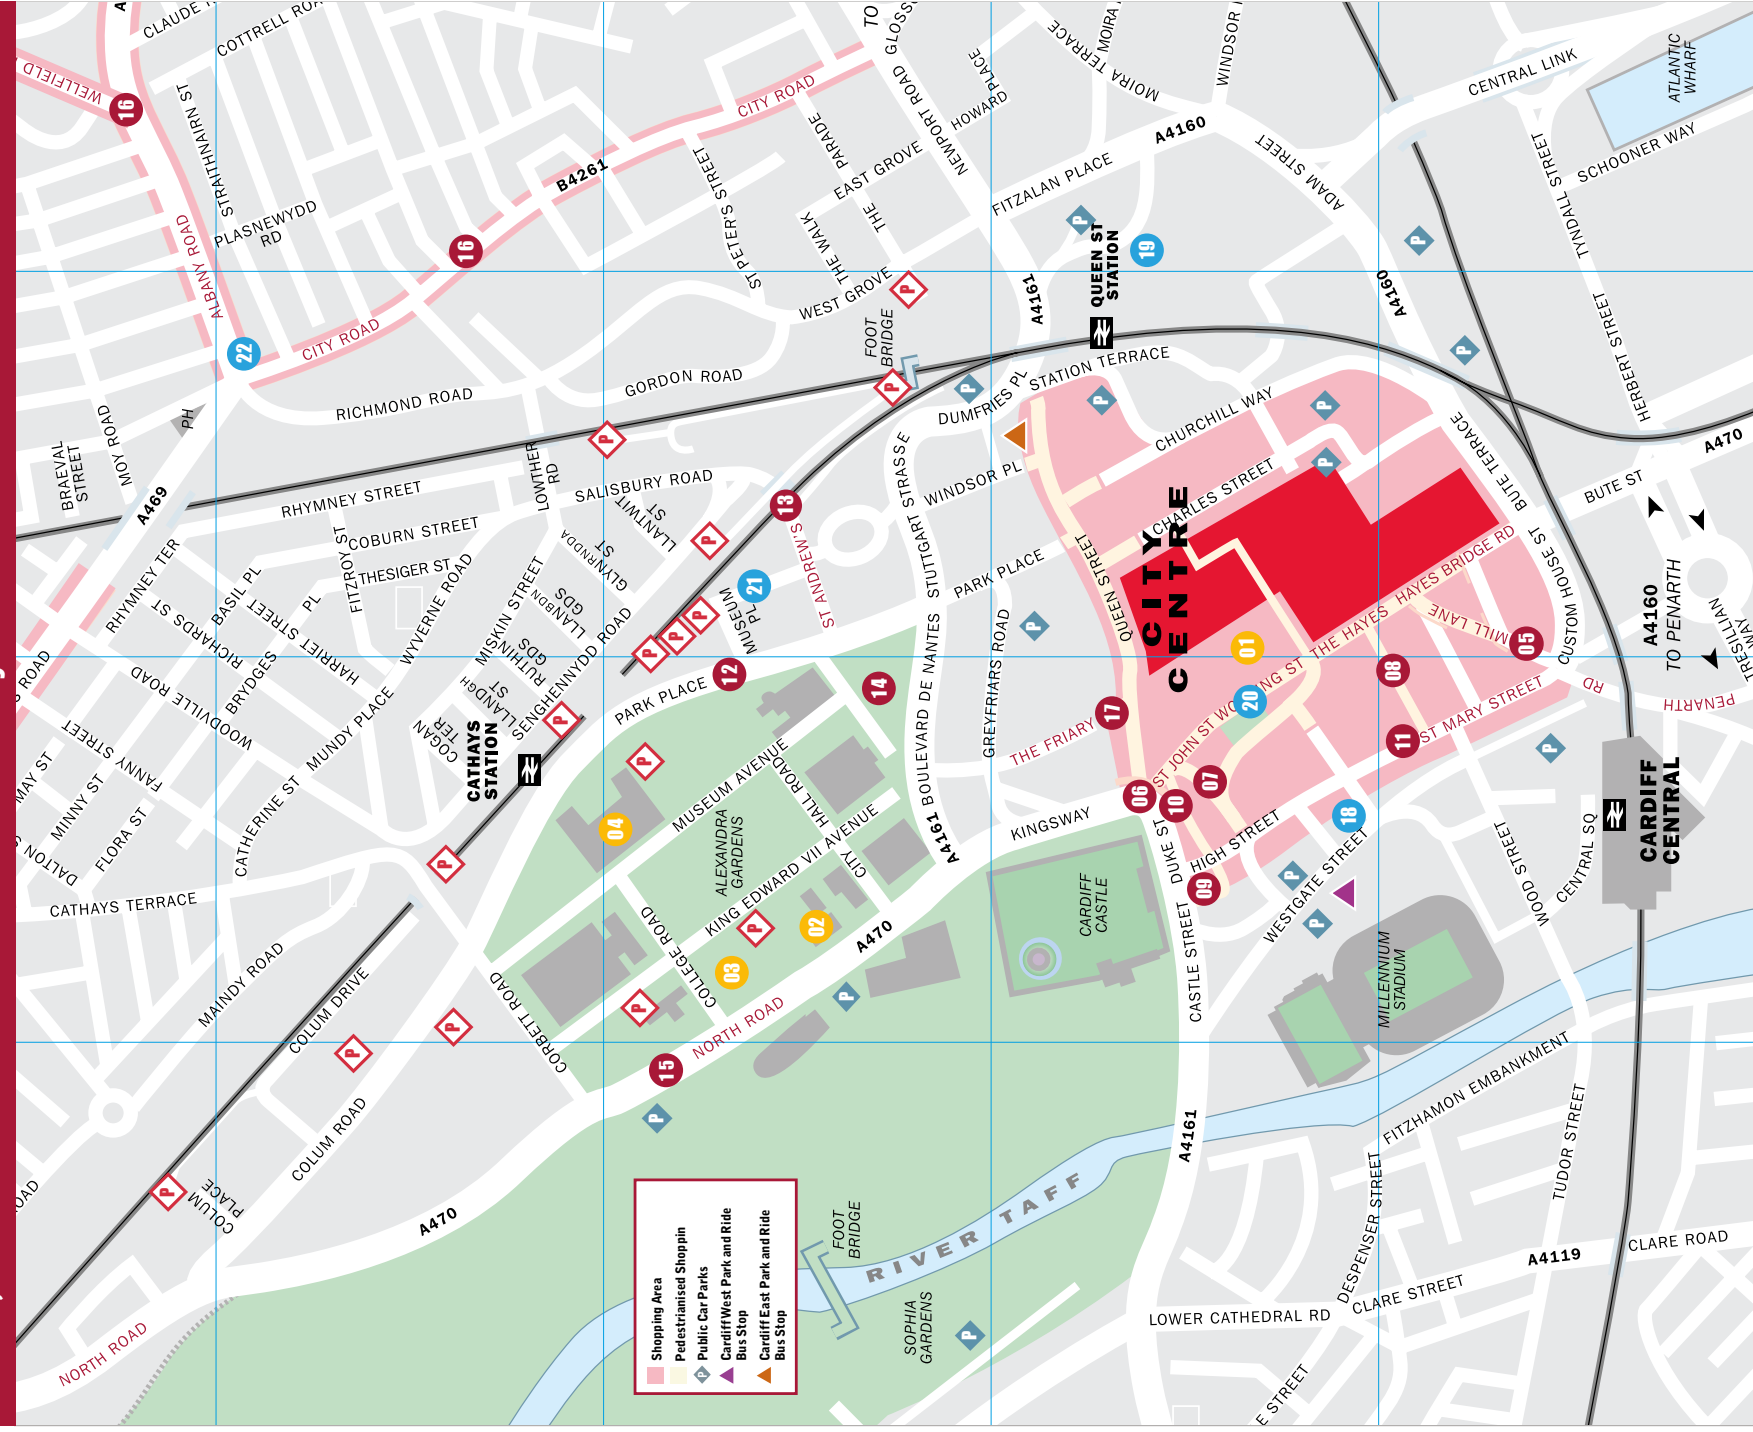

The Hayes/Mill Lane 05

When you exit St David's Hall, turn left and within a 5-minute walk you will find Starbucks and a variety of restaurants serving Italian (Giovanni's, Jamie's Italian, Carluccio's, Ask Italian), Mexican (Wahaca, Las Iguanas) and Asian (Wagamama, Juborai) cuisine as well as burgers (Gourmet Burger Kitchen) and classics (Bill's). Continue past these restaurants and you will arrive at a selection of bars and discos including The Duke of Wellington, The Corner House, Ten Mill Lane, Peppermint Bar and Mocka.

Working Street/St John's Street / Kingsway 06

Directly opposite St David's Hall is the Hayes Island Snack Bar where you can buy hot sandwiches, burgers, tea/coffee and pastries. When you leave St David's Hall, turn right and you will find Costa coffee, Burger King, Gregg's bakery and the Owain Glyndwr which serves pub food. Continue straight and as you walk along the right-hand side of Cardiff Castle you will pass a pub called Hopbunker which specialises in craft beers and ales.

Trinity Street/Church Street 07

When you exit St David's Hall and turn right along Working Street, you will see a small park on your left where St John the Baptist City Parish Church is situated. If you turn left and circle around the church you will arrive at Trinity Street/Church Street. Here you will find pubs (The Old Market Tavern, Small Bar, Ten Feet Tail), as well as Italian restaurants (The Real Italian Pizza, Café Citta), a bakery specialising in Cornish Pastries (The Cornish Bakehouse) and Truffles – a café known for its cooked breakfasts.

The Friary 17

When you reach Burger King on St John Street, turn right on to Queen Street and then left on to The Friary. Here you will find Mission Burrito (a Mexican sandwich shop), Coffee #1 which serves a large range of coffees, teas, smoothies and cakes, bar/restaurants (Revolución De Cuba, Slug and Lettuce), and the Live Lounge – a bar/nightclub that is open until 4am.

Arcades 08 09 10

As you leave St David's Hall you will notice that in front of you there are several entrances to arcades. We encourage you to explore these as you will find further places to eat, drink and shop. Among these are great places to stop for breakfast, lunch, tea and cakes (for example, Barkers Tea House, Garlands), an American-style sandwich shop (New York Deli), a place to try local Welsh food (Seasons) and the Viennese-inspired Wally's Delicatessen and Kaffeehaus.

St Mary Street 11

If you walk through the arcades you will find yourself on St Mary Street. Dotted along this street are many more restaurants, cafés and bars. At night, and especially at the weekend, St Mary Street hosts a lively nightlife as many of the bars and nightclubs are open till late.

Near the Cardiff University Conference Buildings

Park Place runs along the front of the entrance to Main Building. Here, there is Costa coffee, Subway sandwiches and Cardiff University's Students Union which houses several places to eat and drink in addition to a supermarket. If you walk along Park Place toward St David's Hall, you will pass a restaurant/bar on the left called 29 Park Place. To the rear of this, on Park Grove, is another restaurant/bar called The Pen and Wig. Also on the left, on a side street called St Andrews Place, there is a coffee shop called Coffee A GoGo. As you continue down Park Place, on the right is a park called Gorsedd Gardens. Here, you will find Brodie's Coffee Hut. Finally, situated on North Road (which runs behind the Glamorgan and Bute Buildings) is the Royal College of Music and Drama where you will find a cafeteria on the ground floor.

Information for Vegetarians and Vegans 22

Vegetarians and vegans are catered for in the majority of restaurants and cafés in Cardiff. However, here are some recommendations for places to eat if you are vegetarian/vegan. Atma (Capitol Centre, Queen Street), Milgi (City Road), Anna-Loka (Albany Road) and the Vegetarian Food Studio (Penarth Road) are exclusively vegetarian/vegan restaurants. While the Grazing Shed on St Mary Street is a burger restaurant, you can select any option from the extensive menu and request to swap the meat burger for a vegetarian one. The Plan Café (Morgan Arcade), Café Citta (Church Street) and Madame Fromage (Castle Arcade) all have a good selection of vegetarian/vegan options.

The Clink 19

The Clink is a unique charity with restaurants located throughout England and Wales. Each restaurant is situated within the grounds of a prison; in Cardiff, The Clink is next door to HMP Cardiff on Knox Road. The food is prepared and served by prisoners who have received relevant training with the aim of providing them with the experience and assistance to gain employment in the restaurant industry when they are released. Not only is The Clink celebrated for its charitable contribution, it has received several prestigious awards for the high quality of its food and service.

Please be aware that The Clink does not serve alcohol and its opening hours vary on different days of the week. If you wish to make an enquiry about dining at The Clink, we advise you to call in advance on +44 (0)29 2092 3130 or book a table via the website <http://thelinkcharity.org/the-clink-restaurants/cardiff-wales/>

Welcome to Cardiff / Croeso i Gaerdydd

Challenging 'Crime' and 'Crime Control' in Contemporary Europe

'Crime' remains the organising construct of criminology. It offers a fulcrum around which to measure absolute and relative harms, legitimacy of control, patterns and explanations of offending and of social reactions to its various forms. This is true whether one is analytically neutral about values, or is concerned about too much repressive police and punishment (e.g. of youth, of the poor, of women, of ethnic minorities and undocumented migrants) or too little control (e.g. of violence against women and 'hate crimes', of elite corporate or public officials). This accords with Sutherland and Cressey's classic formulation – that criminology is the study of the processes of the making of laws, the breaking of laws and society's reaction towards the breaking of laws – as well as the rainbow of perspectives and research methodologies that are badged under 'criminology' in Europe today.

Both 'crime' and crime control' as phenomena and criminology as a discipline are now facing several challenges. One is the rise in intolerance of long-established but often termed 'new' crimes such as domestic and commercial violence against women and men (commercial violence is now badged as 'modern slavery'). The debate about the labelling of 'modern slavery' and its control has been exacerbated by the huge rise in undocumented and falsely documented migrants into Europe fleeing genocide, political conflict and economic hardships. A second is the massive changes in technology and crime reduction measures which (alongside other influences) have impacted on the police-recorded and real rates of some more traditional crimes, requiring a shift in focus and also in crime measurement and policing. A third is the globalisation of 'terrorist threats', which have generated a shift in securitisation, growing restrictions on civil liberties and a closer relationship between the police and security services in European countries and elsewhere. This has generated controversy about the proper limits of the State and the 'responsibilisation' of the private sector, especially of technology firms but also of financial services, via its governmentality focus on financing terrorism and proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction.

A fourth is the impact of austerity and public finances on levels of crime and on how we react to crimes, including policing, criminal justice and the sanctioning of offenders. Some of these elements interact, as we have seen in the aftermath of the London and Manchester bombings, following which the UK Prime Minister was blamed for diminishing the community intelligence sources for counter-terrorism via her reduction of ordinary policing budgets (in line with the then falling crime rate) while Home Secretary. The extent to which the above challenges will affect different dimensions of 'the punitive turn' remains yet to be resolved, but these reconfigurations – or demands for reconfigurations – of crime control present challenges for what and whom we study, as well as for the criminal justice and official crime prevention actors themselves. They also intersect with demands for 'more Europe' and 'less Europe' in the specific development of European efforts and institutions to meet these local, national and transnational challenges. These challenges are intensified by the resentment of some governments – e.g. Hungary and Poland – against 'Brussels' interference with their efforts at what they claim is more 'democratic' control of the judiciary: a view shared among some EU candidate countries such as Turkey. The tensions between Rule of Law and Rule of the Demos are familiar to those who lived through the traumas of the last century, and we must try to manage them better this time.

We all have our own set of interests around that range of approaches, and although panels at the ESC – like most other broad-spectrum conferences – are largely determined exogenously by demands from participants, we have selected for our plenaries a set of themes which reflects some of the key challenges that affect all European and most non-European societies. Our first plenary addresses some of the challenges facing policing, criminal justice and crime reduction in Europe and the UK: issues which affect the UK in some respects more (as we and the other Member States who remain cope with the implications of the UK leaving the EU) and in other respects less (since the wave of migrants reaches the UK and Ireland only very indirectly). The second plenary examines the implications of legal and practice reforms in the important Europe-wide effort to reduce gender-based violence, domestic abuse and sexual violence, and how these reforms are experienced by victims. The final plenary examines some of the dramatic implications of cybercrime for policing and victimisation, and how researchers are attempting to enhance policy and outreach to different social groups and criminal justice. We have made a deliberate attempt to shift away from older formats and adopt a more interactive approach within the plenaries, as well as in the follow-up sessions for the first two. These and other sessions (as well as the Opening Ceremony, Poster Session and the Farewell Party) will take place in St. David's Hall – the major concert hall in Cardiff.

Criminology at Cardiff University

Cardiff has a vibrant set of criminology researchers and thinkers. The staff are principally situated in the School of Social Sciences (one of the top social science research departments in the UK) and have an international reputation in theoretically-informed policy-relevant research in some of the most dynamic areas of crime and crime control. These include: cybercrimes (Mike Levi, Matt Williams); hate crimes and terrorism (Gordon Hughes, Martin Innes, Mike Levi, Matt Williams); crime policy mobilities/transfers (Stewart Field, Trevor Jones, Mike Levi); domestic and sexual violence (Kirsty Hudson, Amanda Robinson, Janna Verbruggen); drugs and crypto-markets (Luca Giommoni, Jenny Hoolachan,); life-course criminology (Steve Cook, Janna Verbruggen); resettlement and desistance (Kirsty Hudson, Janna Verbruggen); organised crime (Adam Edwards, Luca Giommoni, Mike Levi); policing (commercial, comparative, cyber, counter-terrorist and local) (Adam Edwards, Gordon Hughes, Martin Innes, Trevor Jones, Mike Levi, Amanda Robinson, Matt Williams); technologies of crime and crime control (Adam Edwards, Matt Williams); urban security and the night-time economy (Adam Edwards; Jenny Hoolachan, Gordon Hughes, Rachel Swann); community safety, class inequality and exclusions (Gordon Hughes, Rachel Swann); white-collar/ corporate crime (Mike Levi); youth justice (Steve Cook, Stewart Field, Jenny Hoolachan, Gordon Hughes); and comparative criminal justice and legal cultures (Stewart Field, Mike Levi). International Relations scholars at Cardiff work on subjects including cybersecurity, maritime piracy and transnational organised crime.

Cardiff hosts two internationally renowned research centres in the area of crime and crime control: The Universities' Police Science Institute (www.upsi.org.uk) is a formal partnership with South Wales Police, working with a number of police forces across the UK; the Crime and Security Research Institute (<http://www.cardiff.ac.uk/crime-security-research-institute>) is a new venture bringing together colleagues from different disciplines (including computer science, criminology and medicine) with the aim of decreasing crime and violence, and increasing security. It hosts the Social Data Science Lab (<http://socialdatalab.net>) which has been involved, inter alia, with understanding and countering hate crime and speech online. Cardiff has a long-established interdisciplinary Centre for Crime, Law and Justice (<http://www.cardiff.ac.uk/research/explore/research-units/cardiff-centre-for-crime-law-and-justice>) in which criminologists from the School of Social Sciences work with lawyers and political scientists from the School of Law and Politics (including International Relations) to focus on the relationship between security and justice.

Lunch grab bags

Pre-ordered lunch bags can be collected from St David's Hall on Level 3 at 13.00 on both Thursday 14th and Friday 15th September. Each bag will contain a sandwich, salted crisps, a biscuit, a Welsh cake, piece of fruit and a carton of juice. Please note that you will not be able to collect your grab bag if you do not produce your ticket. Tickets for those who have pre-paid will be issued during registration.

Poster session, wine reception and 'ice cream social'

You are invited to attend the Poster Session and Wine Reception which takes place on Thursday 14th September, 17.00 to 19.00, in St David's Hall on Levels 3, 4 and 5.

During the Poster Session, the 'ice cream social' will also take place. This is in partnership with the American Society of Criminology and the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Farewell dinner and party

We are excited to invite you to the Farewell dinner and party on Friday 15th September in St David's Hall. Beginning at 19.30, those who have paid for the dinner will receive a 3-course buffet meal, 2 glasses of wine/soft drinks and musical entertainment (including harpist – Eleri Darkins – and the University Acapella Group). Registration and payment for attending the dinner is required. Delegates have the opportunity to book this in advance at the cost of £35 per person. The deadline for advanced booking is Friday 8th September. After 8th September there will be a limited number of tickets available which you can book via the website (see below), at the higher cost of £40 per person. Website bookings will close at midnight on Wednesday 13th September. If you wish to purchase a ticket on Thursday 14th or Friday 15th September, please go to the registration desk. Please note that tickets are subject to availability.

<https://www.eventsforce.net/cbs/frontend/reg/thome.csp?pageID=70669&eventID=296&traceRedir=2&eventID=296>

The dinner is followed by a party which is open to all delegates to attend for free, starting at 21.00 and finishing at midnight. You can dance the night away to music from a vintage themed live band called Rocket Joe Joe and The Old Time Bangers followed by a DJ. There will also be a Gin Lounge located on Level 4. For those who are not attending the dinner but who wish to attend the party, you will be permitted to enter the party area from 21.00 onward.

Useful information

Internet access

You can connect to Wi-Fi in St David's Hall using the 'CardiffFreeWifi' option. Upon selecting this from your device menu, open your Internet browser and you will be prompted to enter your personal details (name, email address and postcode). Please note that you will not be able to use this free Wi-Fi until you have provided these details.

There are two ways to access WiFi in the Cardiff University buildings. First, if you have Eduroam configured on your mobile device, you will be able to connect to WiFi by clicking on 'eduroam' from the list of wireless networks available.

Second, you can access Cardiff University Guest WiFi. To connect your mobile device:

1. Click on 'CU-Visitor' from the list of wireless networks available.
2. Click 'I am here for a 'Conference/School open day' in the browser window.
3. Select 'I don't have a username and would like to register'.
4. You will be asked to register your name, email address, mobile phone number and enter the conference ID which is: ESCCardiff2017.
5. Click 'Register'. You will then receive a text message with a username and password which you can then use to log in to the wireless network. If you do not receive a text within a few minutes, try switching your phone off and on again.

If you require assistance, please go to the registration desk.

Conference app

For the first time, the ESC is using a conference app which you can access on your Android or iOS phones and tablets. The app allows you to view and search the conference programme and select which sessions you are interested in attending. You can view the Tweets from the #EuroCrim2017 hashtag and access maps and information about the local area.

To download the app, please visit <https://www.eurocrim2017.com/conference/app> and follow the instructions.

Conference identification badges

You will be issued with an official conference badge when you register in St David's Hall. You must wear this badge at all times during the conference to gain access to the panel sessions and key events. Delegates not wearing a badge may be prevented from conference access.

Volunteers

We have a team of volunteers providing assistance throughout the conference. They will be wearing yellow t-shirts. Please do not hesitate to contact them if you require assistance.

Accessibility

Every building that is being used during the conference is wheelchair accessible. In Bute and Main Buildings a code is required to access the lift. Please ask one of our volunteers if you require assistance with this.

Cloakroom

There is a cloakroom located in St David's Hall on Level 2 next to the registration desk. You are welcome to leave your coats here while you are inside the building but it is not possible to leave luggage or other belongings here.

Luggage, belongings and lost property

Please ensure that you keep your luggage and belongings in a safe and secure place at all times, and do not leave them unattended. While there will be a security presence throughout the conference, Cardiff University and the ESC cannot be held responsible if any items are lost or stolen. Please report any items of lost property to the registration desk in St David's Hall. Upon check-out, most hotels will allow you to store items of luggage in a locked room which can be collected later. If this option is available in your hotel then please make use of it. There will be an area located in the ground floor entrance of St David's Hall for you to leave luggage but this will not be secure.

Quiet and Private Spaces

There is a multi-faith room located in St David's Hall on Level 3 in Room 3.5. There will also be a multi-faith room available in the Glamorgan Building – please ask a volunteer for directions to this.

For those who wish to use a private space for breastfeeding or expressing, there will be rooms available in St David's Hall and the Glamorgan Building. In St David's Hall, please ask about this at the registration desk on Level 2 and in the Glamorgan Building please ask a volunteer who will show you where to go.

Conference Security

If you have any concerns about security during the conference then please contact the general security team on +44 (0)29 2087 4444.

All you need to know about Cardiff

We are delighted to welcome you to Cardiff, the capital city of Wales. Although it may be small in size, Cardiff boasts an impressive array of restaurants and bars, parks and cultural activities, entertainment and shopping opportunities. While you are here, we encourage you to spend your recreational time exploring what the city has to offer.

Cafés, restaurants and bars

In the city centre, there is an abundance of places to eat and drink. Please see the handout in the conference bag for a list of cafes, restaurants and bars located near to the conference venues. The following website also provides information on cafes, restaurants and bars:

www.visitcardiff.com/eatdrink/

Tiny Rebel

We are pleased to offer you a voucher for a free drink at a Welsh bar called Tiny Rebel which is located at 25 Westgate Street opposite the Principality Stadium (a 10 minute walk from St David's Hall). As well as soft drinks, this micro-brewery offers a wide selection of alcoholic drinks including a range of cask and keg beers which have been brewed in-house. The food served here includes burgers, pizza, vegan dishes and pub snacks. You can find your voucher in your conference bag.

Tipping

In cafés, bars and fast-food outlets, you are not expected to tip your server. In restaurants it is customary to add a 10% tip on to the total cost of the bill but before you do this make sure that the bill does not already include a 'service charge'. If it does then you do not need to tip. In taxis it is customary to round the charge up to the nearest pound.

Sightseeing

If you have time to spend in Cardiff sightseeing we recommend visiting the following places.

For additional information please see

www.visitcardiff.com

The National Museum Cardiff is situated on Cathays Park, close to Cardiff University. This is open Tuesday-Sunday from 10:00-17:00 and is free to visit. Next door is Cardiff's City Hall and Clock Tower whose architecture was inspired by the English and French Renaissance. On Working Street, opposite St David's Hall, is Yr Hen Lyfrgell which is Cardiff's cultural museum. Here you can purchase Welsh themed gifts and learn about Cardiff's history and the Welsh language.

Cardiff Castle is situated at the end of St Mary Street near Cardiff University. To enter the castle grounds, a ticket will cost £12.50 which you can buy at the entrance. If you walk west along Castle Street (in front of the castle) you will come to the Animal Wall and beyond this is the entrance to Bute Park. Opposite the Animal Wall is Cardiff's Principality Stadium which is the home of Welsh rugby and which hosted the 2017 football Champion's League Final.

Inside Bute Park you can catch a water taxi which will speed you down the River Taff into the area known as Cardiff Bay. This journey takes approximately 30 minutes and will cost £4 for a one-way journey. In Cardiff Bay, you can stroll around the waterfront of Mermaid Quay which contains restaurants, bars and shops. Here, you will find the Senedd, which is home to the National Assembly for Wales, and the Wales Millennium Centre which is Cardiff's largest venue for concerts and theatre performances. There is a Tourist Information point located inside the Wales Millennium Centre.

If you wish to venture outside of Cardiff City Centre, then St Fagans National History Museum is definitely worthy of a visit. You might want to also check out Real Wales Tours –

a company offering tours departing from Cardiff and going to a variety of locations across Wales such as the Brecon Beacons National Park, Wye Valley, Gower Peninsula, Pembrokeshire and Snowdonia National Park. Information can be found here www.realwalestours.com/

Shopping

The main shopping streets in Cardiff are The Hayes and Queen Street. Next to St David's Hall you will see an entrance to the Queen's Arcade and St David Centre which are two connected indoor shopping malls. For smaller boutiques check out the arcades located along St Mary Street. For souvenir shops, head to Castle Street.

Travelling in Cardiff

As Cardiff is a relatively small city, most people get around by walking or cycling. If you wish to hire a bicycle, head to Cardiff Cycle Tours located opposite the Principality Stadium, or PedalPower located in Bute Park. There are taxi ranks situated at Cardiff Central train station, Wood Street, Greyfriars Road, Churchill Way, St Mary Street and Mill Lane. Alternatively, you can call one of these local taxi companies:

Dragon Taxis

Instructions for presenters

Oral presentations

Chairs

- Please arrive at the session room at least 10 minutes before the session starts.
- Chairs should rigorously enforce the schedule.
- Each panel session will last 75 minutes. Allow at least 15 minutes for questions and comments from the audience. Divide the remaining time evenly between the presenters of the session.
- Introduce each presenter – name, institution and title of the presentation.
- Please adhere to the order of presentations as they appear in the conference programme.

Presenters

- The maximum time for your presentation is 15 minutes.
- Arrive at the room of your session at least 10 minutes before the session starts
- Bring your presentation on a USB memory stick in PowerPoint, PDF or Word format.
- You will be required to use the PC laptops that are provided, therefore, you cannot use your own laptop and please ensure that if you have created your presentation on an Apple device, that the format of your presentation is compatible with PC computers.
- Please ensure that your presentation slides are designed so that they can be easily read by the audience. Careful attention should be paid to font size, style, spacing and colours to maximise readability.

Volunteers will be available in or nearby the session rooms to help you if you require assistance.

Poster presentations

Design

- Poster headings must include the title of the presentation, the names of authors and their affiliation.
- The poster should be a text size that will be easily legible from a short distance.
- Graphs, pictures, etc. are an interesting addition.
- The content of the presentation must reflect the summary of information given in the abstract.
- Poster board dimensions will be 100cm in width and 200cm in length. We recommend a maximum poster size of 85cm in width and 120cm in length (A0 paper size). The poster can be presented in either landscape or portrait orientation.

Before the conference

- Please note that you are solely responsible for looking after your poster prior to, during and after the conference. We ask that, where possible, you do not send the poster to the organisers in advance but, rather, bring it with you when you travel to Cardiff. If this is not possible then you can mail your poster to the conference organiser but you must allow sufficient time to avoid any delay in your poster arriving. Remember that the conference organiser does not accept responsibility for the timely arrival, security or storage of your poster. We do not accept posters that have been emailed to the conference organiser. They must arrive in a printed format.

During the conference

- The Poster Session takes place in St David's Hall on Levels 3, 4 and 5. Please ensure you adhere to the time slots below:

Poster set-up:

Thursday 14th September 13:00 – 16:00

Poster session:

Thursday 14th September 17:00 – 19:00

Poster removal:

Thursday 14th September 19:00 – 19:30

- Material for fastening the posters to the boards will be available.
- Presenting authors are requested to be available at their posters during the Poster Session.

After the conference

- Presenters are responsible for removing their posters after the session on Thursday evening. If you wish to take your poster home then you are responsible for storing it in a safe location. If you are not planning to take your poster home, we kindly request that you still remove it from St David's Hall after the session ends.
